DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The Examiner acknowledges the amended claims filed on July 7, 2009. Claims 67-70 and 72 have been amended. Claims 1-66, 71, 77 and 78 have been cancelled.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 67-70 and 72-76 (Renumbered as 1-9) are allowed.
3. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
 4. Regarding claim 67 (Renumbered as 1), the main reason for indication of allowable subject matter is because the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, including all the elements of the present claim, that a priority in the plurality of shooting modes is assigned to the respective shooting modes set by the first setting unit, and the shooting mode with a high priority is set when the plurality of shooting modes are set prior to shooting.
 5. Regarding claim 68 (Renumbered as 2), the main reason for indication of allowable subject matter is because the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, including all the elements of the present claim, that the shooting mode settable by the first setting unit is one of a scene mode, a filter mode in which sepia or monochrome is settable, a strobe mode, and a view angle mode in which predetermined angle is set, and priority is assigned in the order of the scene mode, the filter mode, the strobe mode, and the view angle mode.

6. Regarding claim 69 (Renumbered as 3), the main reason for indication of allowable subject matter is because the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, including all the elements of the present claim, that the correction condition set by the second setting unit is one of luminance of scene, subject distance, shutter speed, aperture, strobe, and view angle, and a priority is assigned in the order of the luminance of scene, the subject distance, the shutter speed, the aperture, the strobe, and the view angle.

7. Regarding claim 70 (Renumbered as 4), the main reason for indication of allowable subject matter is because the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, including all the elements of the present claim, that the shooting unit setting the image capturing condition comprises: a first setting unit selecting one state from a plurality of predetermined shooting states, and setting a predetermined shooting mode; and a second setting unit capable of setting a predetermined correction condition in accordance with a state of a subject regardless of the shooting mode, and an item set by the first setting unit is prioritized that an item set by the second setting unit.

8. Regarding claim 72 (Renumbered as 5), the main reason for indication of allowable subject matter is because the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, including all the elements of the present claim, that a priority is assigned to between the image capturing condition set by the setting unit and the shooting mode selected by the shooting mode selecting unit, and the shooting mode is prioritized when the image capturing condition and the shooting mode are simultaneously set and selected.
